

GIRL'S LEG SAVED; MOTHER FORBADE ITS AMPUTATION

Surgeons Who Insisted Child
Would Die Now Marvel at Her Recovery.

CRUSHED BY TROLLEY.

"I Would Rather See Her Dead
Than Crippled," Said
Mrs. Rellly.

The ten month old girl of Mrs. Thomas Rellly, of No. 121 Madison street, New York, who was crushed by a trolley car last week, is now recovering from her injuries. The child, who was crushed by a trolley car last week, is now recovering from her injuries. The child, who was crushed by a trolley car last week, is now recovering from her injuries.

Elizabeth, by getting almost well, has refuted the predictions of the medical men and will soon be at home again, getting ready to "play like the other little girls." She is now in the Newark City Hospital, where she and her mother spent a very merry Christmas, and they believe to-day the New Year will be much happier for them than for anybody they know. In fact, they are almost ready to say, for anybody else in the world.

"I would rather see my daughter dead than a cripple," the mother has said to all requests from the doctors. "You cannot cut off her leg."

Elizabeth was run down by a trolley car last spring and her leg was crushed. The doctors said, because of her youth and health, she could recover, but her leg must come off.

RATHER SEE HER DEAD THAN ONE-LEGGED.

Fearing the doctors would carry out their threat to amputate, Mrs. Rellly took Elizabeth home for a few days soon after the accident, but the child was taken back to the ward on the promise of the doctors not to amputate. Blood poisoning developed. For weeks the doctors expected the death of the child. They told the mother there was no possible hope for her unless the leg was cut off.

"I'd rather see her dead," Mrs. Rellly always told them.

All through the summer Elizabeth suffered. There were times when she was not expected to live an hour. Then she would rally.

When fall came, the doctors marvelled. Gradually the golden left leg's infection left. Then it began to show signs of healing.

"But it will have to come off eventually," the doctors still insisted. "And she will not live to be a cripple," the mother told them.

So every day Mrs. Rellly went to the bedside of the child and spent hours with her. A few weeks ago the leg showed such improvement that the doctors were forced to admit that she would not lose it and would live.

ALMOST WELL, CAN SOON PLAY LIKE OTHERS.

One of the house surgeons went to Elizabeth yesterday, soon after the mother had taken a chair by the cot. "Feeling better?" asked the doctor.

"I'm very happy," answered Elizabeth. "I no longer feel pain and can kick both legs. Just look," and to show how strong the injured leg was, the child kicked vigorously at the cover.

"Would you like to go home?" asked the doctor.

"Would I?" exclaimed Elizabeth. "I would love to go home and be able to run again like other girls. Can I ever go home?"

The doctor examined the leg carefully. Then he tested its strength and said: "Elizabeth, you can go home in ten days or two weeks. You are almost well. You'll soon be able to play as other girls play."

INEXPENSIVE GIFTS FOR ROCKEFELLERS

CLEVELAND, Dec. 25.—John D. Rockefeller and Mrs. Rockefeller spent Christmas in Cleveland for the first time in twenty-five years. At the dinner, which was served at 3 o'clock, the master of Forest Hill and his wife were joined by relatives and their pastor, the Rev. Dr. W. W. Hustard, and Mrs. Hustard.

Mr. and Mrs. Rockefeller received many telegrams of greeting and also presents. None of the latter, it was announced at Mr. Rockefeller's home to-night, was of an elaborate character.

The residence was decorated with holly and evergreen in a simple fashion and the spirit of a real home-like Christmas pervaded. In the morning Mr. Rockefeller spent hours on the golf links with Dr. Hustard.

In the afternoon Mr. Rockefeller left his home for a short automobile trip about the eastern part of the city, returning about 4:30 o'clock. He spent the evening quietly at his home with his guests.

Mrs. Shepard and Rockefeller's Shower Gold Piece.

Mrs. Finley J. Shepard and John D. and William Rockefeller made the employees at the Tarrytown railroad station happy yesterday. Mrs. Shepard also gave gold pieces to the station men at Irvington.

To the telegraph operators and to the managers of the telephone offices in Irvington and Tarrytown she gave ten dollars. To the eleven telephone girls she gave five dollar gold pieces. The men on her estate received turkeys and potatoes.

John D. Rockefeller also distributed ten dollar gold pieces among the telegraph operators and telephone girls.

50,000,000 EGGS DAILY, YET PRICE STAYS HIGH; MIDDLEMEN BLAMED

Cost Not Due to Shortage, Declares Farmers' Co-operative Union.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 25.—The high price of eggs is not due to shortage in production, according to the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union.

"The consumer," says Peter Radford, national lecturer of that organization, "should not be taken too seriously. He is always complaining. The Federal Department of Justice has investigated the hen as unscrupulously as though she were a Wall Street millionaire. The housewife has raised at her and passed resolutions questioning her business integrity."

"The farmer did not get the money the consumer has been paying for high priced eggs. It may be that some of the farmers living near the large cities, who sold their eggs to the consumer direct, profited by the increase, but in the community where I farm the peddler who buys our eggs has never paid us more than 30 cents a dozen."

"The transportation rate would not exceed 5 cents a dozen, and the gap between the amount paid the producer, plus the cost of transportation, and the price paid by the consumer, was filled by the middleman."

"The Farmers' Union seeks to have the farmer own or control cold storage plants, warehouses and proper equipment for holding his surplus until there is a market demand. The hens in the United States, Radford says, are now laying 50,000,000 eggs a day, and it is comparatively easy, by up-to-date methods, to increase the production all winter."

MRS. A. E. STEVENSON DEAD.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 25.—Mrs. Adah E. Stevenson, wife of former Vice-President Stevenson, died early last night. She had been ill for several months. Mrs. Stevenson was seventy years of age. She is survived by her husband and three children, Lewis G. Stevenson, President of the Illinois State Board of Pardons; Mrs. Martin N. Hardin of Chicago and Miss Letitia Stevenson.

Mrs. Stevenson was Miss Letitia Green of Danville, Ky., daughter of the Rev. Dr. Lewis Green, President of Danville College.

Mrs. Stevenson served two terms as President-General of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and published a history of that organization.

Pick Out the Dyspeptic

You Can Tell Them Anywhere and Especially if You See One Eat.

A Dyspeptic's Dyspeptic Tablets Will Digest Any Meal.

One of the saddest sights at a really rich dinner is to see a man or a woman unable to eat because of dyspepsia. It is really a crime to continue this martyrdom when all one has to do is to eat a little Stuart's Dyspeptic Tablets.

Just carry a tablet in your purse and after each meal eat it as you would a peppermint. It will digest the meal and surely convince you that food will not hurt you.

The grain of the ingredients which compose Stuart's Tablets is such that it is easily digested by the stomach. The whole idea of the great majority of people is to sit nature to do her work without exhaustion, and it certainly accomplishes this result.

Stuart's Dyspeptic Tablets are our best known remedy for all stomach and dyspepsia troubles. It is positively wonderful to see the way one of these little tablets will digest a meal. And no one can realize it until they have used it. Lead to the like it now.
